STAT Dear []

After your departure on Friday, we received word from [] saying that because of the number of people whose plans and expectations would be involved, he was most reluctant to jiggle [] departure. He went on to assure us that both the dope and the people you need will be awaiting you. In anticipating your requirements, particularly in light of impending departures for leave or other reasons, a substantial part of immediate information had already been developed and the tribe is braced to pull everything together under your direction when you arrive.

STAT [] will be there until 31 May; [] until 15 June; and []
STAT and [] for the duration of your stay. [] sends his regards and STAT assures us he is ready for your arrival.

Don has the complete text, should you care to see it.

STAT Have a fine trip and tell [] to call me if there is anything she needs.
